

Chris Hollands
Chartered Accountant

● About Chris....

Chris is a Chartered Accountant with a solid business and banking background built up over many years of experience in Audit, Compliance, Finance, Financial Crime Risk, Operational Risk. He has a strong international background after spending 6 years living and working in Korea, as well as running international teams since 1988.

He has over 40 years of international experience in the financial services industry as an Internal Audit Director as well as having senior roles in Finance, Legal & Compliance and Operational Risk.

Chris has held Audit Director positions at Standard Chartered, Bank of America and American Express. In these roles, he had global responsibility for financial, operational, information systems and product related audits in the Capital Markets and Trading areas of the institutions.

He also has extensive experience both as a Finance Director and in general management after spending five years on the ManCo of Korea's fifth largest bank, advising on risk and financial controls, including audit and regulatory issues.

Since 2012 he has run his own company specialising in internal audit, risk, fraud, sanctions and anti-money laundering in the financial services sector. His company, TomJak, also produces a variety of e-learning courses.