Description

This is an advanced course spread over 7 modules and is suitable for all levels of employee requiring professional level training and a more detailed understanding on Sanctions.

After a general introduction to the topic the course examines in some detail the legal and regulatory framework before looking at each of the major sanctions regimes in turn. The two modules that follow provide a detailed explanation of the need for Customer Due Diligence and ongoing sanctions screening and how to go about it. The course concludes by suggesting a risk based approach that might be used in an organisation and the policies and standards one might expect to find.

Target Audience

This e-learning course is comprehensive and will meet the needs of both front-line staff, who require a detailed knowledge around the need for sanctions and how they work so as to complete their normal work as well as those in audit and control functions.
